The city of Shenyang dates back to 300BC, when Qin Kai, a general of the State of Yan, established the city of Houcheng. It took its modern name – or something close to it, Shengjing – in 1625, when it became the capital for the Qing Dynasty. The Qing dynasty, also known as the Manchu, would go on to rule China as a whole from 1644 to 1912 – an extraordinary span of almost three centuries that formed the map of the modern Chinese state.

The area around Shenyang is where it all began, and the Qing era of cultural effervescence is reflected in many historic places and artefacts today.
Shenyang has a rich cultural history. It is the birthplace of one of China's greatest imperial dynasties and was the imperial capital during the reign of two emperors. It is considered one of the most important historical and cultural cities in China.

Shenyang dialect is similar to the other Northeastern dialects and also to the national standard of Mandarin, Putonghua, but is known as a form of Dongbeihua and has a wide range of vocabulary that is not part of the country's official language. As Shenyang dialect is mutually intelligible with most forms of Mandarin, some people prefer to characterize it as an "accent" rather than a different "dialect."
Northeastern Chinese cuisine is a style of Chinese cuisine in Northeast China. While many dishes originated from Manchu cuisine, it is also heavily influenced by the cuisines of Russia, Beijing, Mongolia, and Shandong. It relies significantly on preserved foods and large portions due to the region's harsh winters and relatively short growing seasons.

A Chinese amah from Dong Bei, China brings a piece of her home to Binondo, Manila with freshly-made Northern Chinese dumplings.
The city's main urban area is located to the north of Hun River, formerly the largest tributary of the Liao River proper and often locally referred as the city's "mother river".

Shenyang's metropolitan area traditionally consisted of the 5 small inner urban districts, surrounded by 4 larger outer suburban districts, and accompanied by 4 rural counties on the north and west sides.
One of China's premier tourist cities, Shenyang is well known as a historical city with important links to Chinese culture. Natural and historical attractions combine to provide an enjoyable travel experience.

Attractions listed as World Heritage:

Mukden Palace - Shenyang Imperial Palace
The first on the must-go attractions list of Shenyang is the Mukden Palace. This palace is the second only to the Forbidden City in the extent of its preservation in Beijing.

Zhaoling Tomb (North Mausoleum)
Construction on this 350-year-old structure began in 1643. Zhaoling Mausoleum combines both Manchu and Han architectural characteristics.

Fuling Mausoleum
Begun in 1629, Fuling Mausoleum is a typical imperial tomb built in a traditional style. This magnificent tomb, which was finished in 1651, has been well maintained.
The Shenyang Metro is a rapid transit system serving the city of Shenyang, Liaoning, China. It is the 7th operational subway system in Mainland China and the first in Northeast China. The system connects with the Shenyang Modern Tram system in the southern part of the city.
- Regular taxis will take passengers anywhere in the city with a starting price of 10rmb for the first 2 kilometers and 2rmb per additional kilometer.

- When a journey is longer than 10 kilometers, taxis charge an additional 50% on the price per kilometer for an empty return.

- Passengers can also use the Didi app, which often offers more affordable rides in better quality cars.
Apartments, townhouses and villas in both western and traditional styles can be found.

A large variety of accommodation can be found on the property proposal webpage of Maxxelli.

The club scene in Shenyang is rather diverse and home to many different kinds of clubs; some focus exclusively on Chinese local customers while others try to attract a more eclectic audience.

Party 98 排队俱乐部
Party 98 is a medium sized club whose layout is rather peculiar. Upon entering, you’ll first find yourself in a small dance room which leads to a second main dance floor, both of which are well decorated and equipped..
